Prospects in Healthcare

Wednesday, December 2, 2020
1600 – 1800 hrs IST

As nations across the world are striving to retain their economic momentum, the pandemic has impressed upon the need for countries to revisit their social progress, particularly in terms of healthcare facilities. The UN's Sustainable Development Goals on universal health coverage, has gained increased significance in the past few months.

Africa has been drawing increased global attention, given the vast opportunities the continent has to offer. However, there are various kinds of challenges, both economic and social, impeding the region's progress. To build a resilient economy, through its population, it is critical to focus towards strengthening the existing healthcare systems.

India has long been engaging with several African nations to help alleviate several infectious diseases by making generic medicines and vaccines available at low costs. This webinar aims at focusing on three critical areas for strengthening India-Africa Partnership in Healthcare, including

- Healthcare Infrastructure
- Healthcare Facilities
- Training and Capacity Building
